AWARDS

• Phoenix Magazine
October 2003
Nikki Buchanan

Named one of Phoenix's 26 Best New Restaurants

“...Fusion is just a sweet neighborhood restaurant catering to people who want an upscale experience at a moderate price.”

• Phoenix Magazine
November 2003

Featured in “Eat Beat: The Valley's Best Burgers”

Nikki Buchanan

“I don't think there's a better burger than ‘The Gladiator’ at Fusion, a splendid 10-ounce paean to beef, meat-eaters and all things manly.”

• Phoenix Magazine
August 2004

Named Best City Sandwich for “Pittsburgher”

Edited by Werner Segarra

“...Old Pittsburgh knows a thing or two about sandwiches as evidenced by the eponymous Pittsburgher- a messy, dripping Dagwood of a thing stacked with your choice of meat (Salami is classic), provolone, French fries, fried egg, tomato and coleslaw between thick slices of toasted Italian bread.”

2005 Dining Guide- Named one of “Business Lunches: Ten of the Valley's Best Places to Make a Deal”

Carey Sweet

"Business can be a bear and lunch at Fusion can leave you chaffed and raw. But that's OK, considering the damage comes from smacking your lips and rubbing your eyes" (Due to low prices as indicated in article)

• Phoenix Magazine

August 2005

2005 Best of the Valley- Award: "Best Unsung Restaurant"

Variety of Writers, edited by Robert Stieve

(Note: quote from piece is already featured on menu, but here's another one from the article)

"The service is always beatific blend of cordiality and polished professionalism, while Matt's eclectic menu and outstanding food deserve much more press than they get."

2005 Eating and Drinking Awards (March)

"Most Memorable Meal"

"The view from Elements is unparalleled, the setting at Sassi is sublime, and chef Kevin Binkley raised the culinary bar in 2004 with the opening of his namesake restaurant. But, my dreamy dining experience at the husband-and-wife run Fusion continues to be my mind and my mouth's most memorable."
